MEMORY AS LABYRINTH

As the lights come on the audience is plunged into a man's mind: his life is passing before him like a film—or maybe it is the film of lives other than his, some past, others still to come. And so, in the cabins and hallways of an ocean liner, begins the labyrinthine voyage that is Triptych. In this trilogy, time, memory, and premonition revolve around the illusions, utopias, and lost loves of blinded characters who act out their own fiction. Uncontrollable forces set them adrift at each stage of their search.

In Triptych, the characters, lost in time and space, are continually drifting away and searching for one another. When they embarked on this voyage in pursuit of an ideal they were full of hope, but reality led them towards an uncertain destiny. They try to find a path through the wanderings of their thoughts while reviving and reliving their memories—or creating new versions of them, open to distortions. Triptych thus reveals a melancholy nostalgia for the future.

The characters' inner quest is reflected in the scenography. They are isolated, lost in the encompassing darkness of the stage, in a labyrinth of missing doors, lost rooms, and hidden floors. The scenography was conceived as three successive film sets. A triple huis-clos in which the characters try in vain to create a new version of their illusory reality.

This filmic aspect manifests itself likewise in the show's soundscape, which is dotted throughout with Foley effects: a falling glass, a door slamming, a beating heart, a metronome, the creaking and grinding noises of the ship. They act as so many anchor points while the characters are sucked in and ejected, while time vibrates, stagnates, fragments, and manifests itself differently for each of the figures onstage.

Gabriela Carrizo and Franck Chartier experimented with changing the filmic sets from one scene to the next in order to get the transitions to unfold as an autonomous dramaturgical force. Hence the man at the end of the second set, who remains alone on the large bed while the technicians work around him to mount the third. His chagrin expands exponentially, and literally becomes a puddle of tears, a theatrical “Lacrimosa.” In Triptych, this intermediary dramaturgy is an intimate part of the maze-like wanderings into the past and the future.

In the third and final set of Triptych, the old man’s mourning man takes on mythic proportions: his puddle of tears becomes the ocean in which an ocean liner shipwrecks. For the passengers, their utopian voyage has turned to its opposite: the forces of dystopia have prevailed.

Triptych is a reworked version of three short pieces that Peeping Tom created for the Nederlands Dans Theater. Gabriela Carrizo directed the first part, The Missing Door, while Franck Chartier directed the two installments that followed, The Lost Room and The Hidden Floor. Carrizo and Chartier wanted to bring these pieces into the Peeping Tom repertory to be able to continue performing them. Together, the choreographers reimagined the pieces for the dancers of their company. In that sense, Triptych shows how different bodies, idioms, and working methods can not only overlap, but also mutually nourish one another.

Yet another layer is to be found in the new team of performers that Peeping Tom selected especially for the characters of Triptych. Carrizo and Chartier focused on the new group’s distinctive combination of technical qualities, which straddle both dance and theater. With their own physical vocabulary, the new dancers will trace new lines of memory, not only across Triptych, but across the company as well.

The press about TRIPTYCH: The missing door, The lost room and The hidden floor

"Oneiric, fantastic and served by performers with hallucinating virtuosity. A great work of art."

Le Soir 03.02.2022

"At once disturbing, macabre and delightful!"  (5 stars)

L'Echo 03.02.2022

"Peeping Tom holds up a mirror to us all and the humor arises from the friction we all experience with the absurdity of everyday life."

La Libre Belgique 02.02.2022

"Scenes you'd rather expect from the brain of David Lynch. A triptych, with the emphasis on 'trip'".

De Morgen 01.02.2022

"Triptych produces uneasiness, reflects on the future of humanity, on relationships, on power, on the unknown, on others and the spiritual, on changes."

Revista El Duende 14.11.2021

"Triptych is a truly dazzling, magical, hypnotic show, a sensory cataract that envelops the spectator and traps him in a spider web of fascination."  (5 stars)

ABC 13.11.2021

"The sounds, the strangeness of the images and the sensations they cause are what make this show last in the memory beyond the moment of its representation. Possibly for a long time."

El País 13.11.2021

"Illusions, fragility, utopias, premonitions, madness, lost loves, inner research and struggle, uncontrolled impulses: themes that the dancers express with that virtuosic and sharp language of the body made up of furious holds, acrobatic falls and rebounds, fluid contortions, repeated and blocked movements. Masterful."

Artribune 22.09.2021

*"Participating in a Peeping Tom show proves to be a unique experience, in which all the boundaries of the languages of the scene are mixed" 1/2 (4,5 stars)

Krapp's Last Post 21.09.2021

"If you like to explore the extraordinary, through paths exposed to risk, you will not be disappointed."

La Guida 16.09.2021

"The company, completely renewed, does not fail to surprise with its furiously acrobatic body language."

Il Manifesto 09.09.2021

"Eclectic and unpredictable, Peeping Tom shows defy ratings, as do Marthaler's subversive stagings and the perturbing films by the great director David Lynch."

La Repubblica 10.09.2021

"Peeping Tom recount the fragility of existence with a lyricism and delicacy unmatched in the international dance scene today."

Teatro Persinsala 08.09.2021

*"Can dance be heart-poundingly exciting? At Peeping Tom, yes." * (4 stars)*

Het Nieuwsblad 15.06.2021

*"Another extremely intriguing show of Peeping Tom" 1/2 (4,5 stars)

Concertnews 12.06.2021

"In Triptych, Peeping Tom dares to venture deep into the human soul."

Het Parool 06.04.2021

"In addition to being full of suspense, the performance is exceptionally flexible and the special effects make it look like a movie. What a wonderful performance."

Zubb 04.04.2021

*"Seemingly effortlessly, they interweave dance, acrobatics, cinematic imagination, mime and text." * (4 stars)*

NRC Handelsblad 04.04.2021

"Almost acrobatic danced actions, of such an originality, beauty and perfection that they are difficult to grasp."  (5 stars)

Diario de Sevilla 30.01.2021

"A fascinating voyage of almost three hours, [...] accompanied by eight fabulous interpreters, who seem to break the laws of nature with every single movement."  (5 stars)

ABC Sevilla 30.01.2021

"The staging of this show is very strong, especially because the dancers build a gore image through a brutal mastery of the body, perfectly combined with sound and light effects."

Recomana 26.07.2020

"From spasmodic movements and virtuoso solos we move on to subtle touches of humor that offer a breath of air in the tension of the environment."

Nuvol.com 22.07.2020

"Peeping Tom follows in the footsteps of theater dance or dance theater with a dramatic conception rich in suggestions and hints. [...] A real universe traversed by the magic of movement and the unexpected."

Ara.cat 21.07.2020

"[The piece], in which there is no lack of black humor, seems to pay tribute to David Lynch with its atmosphere and with its enigmatic and seductive scenes."

El Periodico 21.07.2020

"Again a delicate and fascinating uproar of impossibilities."

Suzy Q 21.07.2020

"The power of each piece of the trilogy lies in the permanent unpredictability of events. [...] The moments of surprise arise primarily from dance - from a seductive as well as compelling movement language that describes an overwhelmingly heightened atmosphere of psychic primal fears."

Tanz 28.11.2017

"The famous ingredients of the two founders of the successful Belgian collective Peeping Tom are again present: dance, acrobatics, illusionism, cinematic suspense. And mad humour. [...] The theatrical qualities of the nine excellent dancers are fully used."

NRC Handelsblad 18.10.2017

*"The typical mix of magic, effects, slapstick and contortion is bombastic; the suspense is perfect. The entire piece is still worthy of the comparison with the surrealistic TV series Twin Peaks." ****

They made the short film retreat and currently they are developing the solo performance Tableau Vivant with financial support by the Taiwan National Culture and Arts Foundation and the Flemish Government.

Gabriela Carrizo & Franck Chartier, © Jesse Willems, Peeping Tom

Choreographers

Gabriela Carrizo (°1970, Córdoba, AR)

Gabriela was ten years old when she started dancing at a multidisciplinary school that had, at the time, the only group of contemporary dance for children and teenagers. Under Norma Raimondi's direction, the school went on to become Córdoba's University Ballet, where Gabriela danced for a couple of years, and where she created her first choreographies.

She moved to Europe when she was nineteen, and over the years she worked with Caroline Marcadé, Les Ballets C de la B (La Tristeza Complice, 1997, and lets op Bach, 1998), Koen Augustijnen (Portrait intérieur, 1994) and Needcompany (Images of Affection, 2001). She never stopped working on her own choreographies, and these years saw the production of a solo piece, E tutto sarà d'ombra e di caline, and Bartime, a collaboration with Einat Tuchman and Lisi Estaras. She also created the choreography for the opera Wolf (2002), by Les Ballets C de la B. She plays a leading role in Fien Troch's movie Kid (2012), and in 2013 she created the short piece The missing door (2013) for the Nederlands Dans Theater – NDT 1 in The Hague. In 2015, Carrizo created The Land, a collaboration with the Munich Residenztheater. More recently, she worked with Franck Chartier on 31 Rue Vandenbranden (2018) an adaptation with Le Ballet de l'Opéra de Lyon of Peeping Tom's original. The new piece opened the prestigious Biennale de la Danse de Lyon in 2018. In 2022, Gabriela will direct her second short piece for Nederlands Dans Theater (NDT 1).

Gabriela has been the artistic director of Peeping Tom, along with Franck Chartier, since they co-founded the company in 2000.

Franck Chartier (°1967, Roanne, FR)

Franck started dancing when he was eleven, and at the age of fifteen his mother sent him to study classical ballet at Rosella Hightower in Cannes. Between 1986 and 1989, he was a part of Maurice Béjart's Ballet du 20ème Siècle. The following three years, he worked with Angelin Preljocaj, dancing in Le spectre de la rose at the Opéra de Paris.

He moved to Brussels in 1994, to perform in Rosas' production Kinok (1994), and he stayed on, working on duos with Ine Wichterich and Anne Mouselet, as well as in productions by Needcompany (Tres, 1995) and Les Ballets C de la B: La Tristeza Complice (1997), lets op Bach (1997) and Wolf (2002). In 2013, he created 33 rue Vandenbranden for the Göteborg Opera, based on Peeping Tom's 32 rue Vandenbranden, and he developed the choreography for the opera Marouf, Savetier du Caire by Jérôme Deschamps at the Opéra Comique de Paris. For Nederlands Dans Theater, he directed The lost room in 2015, for which he received the prestigious Dutch price 'Swan Most Impressive Dance Production 2016'.

2017 marked the world premiere of The hidden floor, his second collaboration with the Dutch company. More recently, he worked with Gabriela Carrizo on 31 Rue Vandenbranden (2018) an adaptation with Le Ballet de l'Opéra de Lyon of Peeping Tom's original. The new piece opened the prestigious Biennale de la Danse de Lyon in 2018. In 2021, he directed Dido & Aeneas, a collaboration between Peeping Tom, Le Concert d'Astrée and the Grand Théâtre de Genève.

Franck has been the artistic director of Peeping Tom, along with Gabriela Carrizo, since they co-founded the company in 2000.

About Peeping Tom

Short biography

Peeping Tom is a Belgian dance theatre company, founded by Gabriela Carrizo (I/AR) and Franck Chartier (F).

Everything at Peeping Tom starts from a hyperrealist setting. The space feels familiar, such as a retirement home in Vader, two trailer homes in 32 rue Vandenbranden or a living room in Le Salon. The creators then break open this realism and begin to defy the logic of time, space and mood. You become the witness - or rather, the voyeur? - of what usually remains hidden and unsaid, you are taken into subconscious worlds and discover nightmares, fears and desires. Presented using a rich imagery, a fascinating battle arises, against one's environment and against oneself.

Since its foundation in 2000 in Brussels, Peeping Tom has presented its creations around the world. The company has received several important awards, including an Olivier Award in the United Kingdom for 32 rue Vandenbranden, a Patrons Circle Award at the International Arts Festival in Melbourne as well as several selections for the Belgian and Dutch Theatre Festivals.

Our Story

Peeping Tom is a Belgian dance theatre company founded in 2000 by choreographers Gabriela Carrizo (I/AR) and Franck Chartier (F). Together with would-be long-time collaborator Eurudike De Beul, they created a location project that took place in a trailer home, Caravana (1999), followed by the film Une vie inutile (2000).

Before starting their own company, they had earned praise as dancers at internationally renowned companies such as Les Ballets C de la B (Alain Platel), Rosas, Maurice Béjart, Angelin Preljocaj and Needcompany.

A hyperrealist aesthetic

Peeping Tom's hallmark is a hyperrealist aesthetic anchored to a concrete set: a garden, a living room and a basement in the first trilogy (Le Jardin, 2002; Le Salon, 2004; and Le Sous Sol, 2007), two trailer homes in a snow-covered landscape in 32 rue Vandenbranden (2009), a burned theatre in A Louer (2011) or a retirement home in Vader (2014).

In these settings, the directors create an unstable universe that defies the logic of time and space. Isolation leads to an unconscious world of nightmares, fears and desires, which the creators deftly use to shed light on the dark side of a character or a community. They explore an extreme language of movement and performance: nothing is ever gratuitous, and the human condition is throughout a main source of inspiration.

Using film editing techniques, they manage to extend the limits of the plot, which always comes across more as a contour than as something you can pin down with any certainty. The 'huis clos' of family situations remains for Peeping Tom a major source of creativity. In 2019, the company finished a second trilogy – Vader, Moeder, Kind – around this theme. A year later, Peeping Tom presented TRIPTYCH: The missing door, The lost room and The hidden floor, an adaptation of the three pieces previously created with NDT I.

Organic and intuitive collaborations

In Peeping Tom, everything connects to everything else. The organic and the intuitive are the breeding ground for collaborations and for creation processes. Their work is a collective and continuous research, coupled with long-term relations with creative and unique performers that ensure the continuity of form and content.

Each finished production is for the dancers/actors a – temporary – surrender of the flow of short scenes generated during the creation period. Each creation process represents for the choreographers a new step in their search for a graceful intertwining of movement with the theatrical, the emotional, with text, sound and set design.

Over the years, the company has developed a strong relation with theatres and audiences. The performances attract a wide, faithful, mostly young public, both at home and abroad. The list of tour dates is exceptionally long, as is the – growing – number of countries they visit each year. With Peeping Tom, creation periods tend to be long, and the productions grow and ripen during the tours. This means that on average, there is a new production every two years.

Opening up to external collaborators

Since 2013, Peeping Tom has opened up to external collaborations with other artists, companies and organizations. In 2013, Gabriela Carrizo created the short piece The missing door with and for the Nederlands Dans Theater – NDT I, while Franck Chartiers adapted 32 rue Vandenbranden for the Opera of Göteborg (as 33 rue Vandenbranden, 2013).

In 2015, Gabriela Carrizo directed The Land, a joint production created with members of Peeping Tom and the actors of the Residenztheater that premiered on May, 8th in the Cuvilliétheater (Munich, DE) in the frame of festival DANCE 2015. October 1st, 2015, marked the premiere of Franck Chartier and NDT I's The lost room in The Hague (NL). The short piece is a sequel to Gabriela Carrizo's The missing door.

A Louer (2011)

Vader (2014)

Moeder (2016)

In 2017, Peeping Tom and NDT I collaborated once again for the creation of The hidden floor, directed by Franck Chartier with the dancers of the Dutch dance company. This closed the trilogy of Adrift, comprising of The missing door, The lost room and The hidden floor.

Peeping Tom's offices are situated in Molenbeek (Brussels). The company benefits from structural support from the Flemish authorities and the KVS – Royal Flemish Theatre (Brussels) is its major partner in Belgium.
